Ship Sinking Angers Japan

TOKYO GRAVELY CONCERNED OVER LOSS OF LINER

"Appropriate Steps" Will Be Taken When Full Details Are Learned

ITALIAN STEAMER MINED

Blasts Resound As British Move To Meet German Blitzkrieg At Sea

TOKYO, Nov. 22—Japan was aroused today by the sinking of the 11,930-ton Japanese liner Terukuni Maru in the mine-infested waters off the English coast.

A foreign office spokesman said that government was "gravely concerned" over the loss of the ship, and was awaiting proof of ownership of the mine responsible for sending it to the bottom.

"The government will take appropriate steps when full circumstances of the disaster are established," the spokesman added.

It was learned that Japan will not claim indemnity. Japanese underwriters are paying 5,000,000 yen to cover loss of the vessel.

Officials declared Japanese ships would not cease making trips to Europe as a result of the disaster.

Tokyo newspapers published extra editions upon receiving news that the Terukuni Maru had been sunk, but so far there have been no demonstrations of public indignation.

Italian Ship Sinks

LONDON, Nov. 22—While Great Britain moved to place retaliatory measures against Germany's "blitzkrieg at sea" into immediate effect, another neutral vessel ran afoul of a mine today off the southeast coast of England.

It was announced that the Italian steamer Fianona received a serious hole in its hull when it struck a mine.

The crippled vessel remained afloat, however, and tugs today were trying to tow her to port.

After the ship struck the mine, a lifeboat sped to the scene and stood by the rest of the night. It was understood that none of the ship's 33 crew members was injured. The vessel was bound for Rotterdam.

The Fianona is a 6,660-ton freighter. It formerly was the Italian navy vessel Pola.

Proclamation By King

Meanwhile, experts drew up an order-in-council which, subject to approval of King George VI, was expected to be proclaimed within 24 hours.

It will state the precise terms and reasons for adopting the plan to seize "exports of German origin or ownership."

In addition, it was learned, the order-in-council will explain whether such goods seized by the Al-

President At Warm Springs For Usual Celebration Of Thanksgiving

ABOARD PRESIDENTIAL SPECIAL EN ROUTE TO WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 22—President Roosevelt came back today to his "other home" in Georgia, the Warm Springs Infantile Paralysis Foundation he organized and made famous, to carve Thanksgiving turkey as usual for the youngsters who are patients there.

Georgia, by order of Governor E. D. Rivers, was accepting the President's newly proclaimed Thanksgiving day tomorrow along with those of the same period in 1938.

Families Get $12

The average grant per family per month for the last year ranged from $12 to $14. Families with able bodied persons are receiving the lowest grants. Small grants have been made to supplement private employment in some cases. It may be necessary to discontinue this policy of aiding families with able-bodied persons except for medical care.

From January 1 to July 1 Pickaway County received no matching funds from the state due to the fact the county had an unencumbered balance as of December 31.

Beginning this week the relief office will be closed every Saturday to relief clients. This is necessary that the office may keep additional WPA forms up to date. Trustees, doctors and officials may continue to call at the office Saturday mornings.

ILLINOIS GROUP ORGANIZES TO BACK BRICKER

CHICAGO, Nov. 22—Incorporation papers for an organization to promote Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio as a Republican candidate for president were filed today at the Secretary of State's office in Springfield.

The papers set forth the purpose of the organization as follows:

1. "To conduct a national campaign of education for the benefit of the republican party.

2. "To organize, in the states, counties and precincts, branches of this organization throughout the nation . . . to recommend Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio for President of the United States."

Bricker previously stated that he had not sanctioned the Illinois movement in his behalf.

BRITISH OPERATION OF WAR DRAWS NEW FIRE

LONDON, Nov. 22—Renewed attacks on the government's operation of the war were threatened today when Major Clement R. Attlee, opposition leader, gave notice that his forces intended to seek a secret meeting of parliament.

Immediately the warship turned its guns directly upon the merchantman, the witnesses said. After 14 shots, the vessel burst into flames and went aground on the rocks lying close offshore. During the night she split in two.

Windows in the village of Hoefn and farms six miles inland were shattered by the shelling, said Reuters.

FUR FLIES WHEN CRITIC RAPS AT WOMEN'S CLUBS

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22—Theodore Dreiser, the novelist, wiped his brow today and wondered whether it was worth while to tell ladies what he thought of them in general.

Verbally, Dreiser took pretty much of a licking from 300 members of the Los Angeles Junior League club after he calmly informed them that:

"Women's clubs are a lot of bologna."

He didn't expect the barrage of queries that came his way, but managed to hold ground although he sagged in the clinches a few times before it was over.

"Mr. Drieser," spoke Mrs. Henry Duque, president of the Junior League, "you wouldn't say the P.T.A. could answer to that description?"

Dreiser feinted:

"The P.T.A. is not a woman's club. It is a very fine organization which is part of our educational system."

Then Mrs. William Howard, another prominent Junior Leaguer, asked:

"What do you think of the American woman's addition to club life?"

"From an intellectual, social and economic angle," he said, "I say again that all women's clubs are bologna. They are not so hot. There should be more to a woman's club than just planting graves and placing plaques."

The questions flew thick and fast with the novelist doing his best to hold his own. Not giving in until the bitter end.

Asked what he was doing at present, he said he was writing a book of philosophy.

"Is it about women?" asked a Junior Leaguer coyly.

"Without women," Dreiser replied triumphantly, "there would be no need for philosophy."

STATE DISMISSES INDICTMENTS OF OHIO SHAKEDOWN

COLUMBUS, Nov. 22—Expressing the opinion that convictions could not be obtained, Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert today nolled in Franklin County Common Pleas Court indictments against 15 persons accused of "shaking down" state civil service employees to discontinue this policy of aiding families with able-bodied persons except for medical care.

From January 1 to July 1 Pickaway County received no matching funds from the state due to the fact the county had an unencumbered balance as of December 31.

Beginning this week the relief office will be closed every Saturday to relief clients. This is necessary that the office may keep additional WPA forms up to date. Trustees, doctors and officials may continue to call at the office Saturday mornings.

DETORETTE PLANS TO FILE DIVORCE PETITION

DETROIT, Nov. 22—A feeler for a compromise on wage increase demands of the CIO's Automobile Workers Union was given out by Chrysler Corporation in negotiations to settle the longest labor dispute production tieup in the automotive industry's history, it was learned today.

Those tried and acquitted were Dan Earhart, former secretary to Davey, and William Alexander, Cincinnati, a state liquor store official under the Democratic regime.

Wilson's investigation lasted eight months, during which he visited universities, colleges and schools from coast to coast. Most of the Communist propaganda was alleged to have been distributed through so-called "Communist front" organizations.

The committee last year heard many charges of Communistic activity in schools in New York.

CHRYSLER MAKES BID FOR PEACE IN AUTO STRIKE

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 22—Screen actress Jean Parker revealed today that she planned to file suit for divorce from George MacDonald, New York newspaperman, within a few days. Miss Parker said she and MacDonald, who were married three years ago, had been separated for six months.

The fact that my husband must necessarily remain in New York and I must stay in Hollywood has ruined our marriage," the actress said. She added that she already had consulted an attorney and property settlement papers are now enroute to New York for MacDonald's signature.

23 STATES CELEBRATE

Slight confusion, most of it accepted with characteristic American good humor, prevailed today as preparations got under way for the celebration of the first section of America's first double-header Thanksgiving. Carving knives were sharpened up in 23 states where in accordance with President Roosevelt's proclamation Thanksgiving will be observed tomorrow, November 23, a week earlier than at first anticipated.

EDUCATORS FACE QUIZ

Evidence Expected To Be Made Public During December Hearings

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—The Diets committee has uncovered alleged evidence purporting to show that Communist authors have written American school textbooks under assumed names, for the purpose of implanting propaganda in the minds of students, it was disclosed today.

The evidence is expected to be made public in December in a series of committee hearings dealing with Communist propaganda and activities in American schools and colleges.

Some of the leading educators of the nation have been invited to appear before the committee. Among those expected to be called is Prof. John Dewey, a liberal, who is said to have fought Communist inroads in organizations of professors and teachers.

Books Studied

Committee agents have completed an analysis of textbooks used in many universities and schools in various parts of the country. Subtle propaganda has been introduced in many of them, the agents asserted.

The evidence is expected to be made public in December in a series of committee hearings dealing with Communist propaganda and activities in American schools and colleges.

The questions flew thick and fast with the novelist doing his best to hold his own. Not giving in until the bitter end.

KUHN BUILDS GOOD LARCENY DEFENSE

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—Pecking at the weaknesses in the state's case, Fritz Kuhn had built a good defense for himself today to charges of larceny and forgery.

His account of his stewardship of the funds of the German-American Bund, delivered personally from the witness stand, was neat and concise with every fact and figure lined up as briskly and efficiently

SWOPE BELIEVES YOUTH OF TODAY HAS BIG CHANCE

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—A mighty lucky man" Gerard Swope called himself as he summed up his career as an industrialist today on the eve of his retirement from the presidency of the General Electric Co.

His first job with General Electric was at the age of 21 at a salary of $1 a day. Today at 67 he is preparing to retire. And throughout his life he has been lucky, he said.

"Lucky in the people with whom I've worked and associated—and that goes right back to the first job I ever held."

His retirement, effective Jan. 1, comes three years before it is required.

Swope, asked if he thought youth had the same opportunity for advancement today as at the time of his start, answered decisively:

"No."

"The boys of today have a big advantage over the boys I grew up with," he explained. "The boys—and the girls—of today have infinitely more opportunities for success and advancement."

"With the increase of knowledge, especially scientific knowledge, since I was a boy, the whole horizon for service and supply has widened immeasurably."

Youth of today, he said, are not the equals of the youth of his time.

"They're not our equals—because they are our betters. They have more than we have."

QUESTION: Would you recommend a boxwood hedge here in the northern part of the state?

ANSWER: I am afraid I would not. I had a boxwood hedge here in Columbus which had to be replanted four years ago. All of the plants died to the ground and most of them were killed entirely.

However, if you want to plant a few individual plants in rather sheltered positions, it is worth taking the chance.

QUESTION: Is there any Buddleia or butterflybush that is absolutely hardy and will not die to the ground?

ANSWER: Yes, Buddleia alternifolia is entirely hardy in all parts of the state.

QUESTION: Is it too late to plant shrubs?

ANSWER: Absolutely not. In fact, now that the leaves have fallen it is just about the best time. They can be planted any time between now and the time the ground freezes.

QUESTION: We have just planted six large evergreens and found a bag worm on one. Can you give us the formula for a good evergreen spray and tell us the best time to use it?

ANSWER: You need not worry about the bag worms. First, if you pull off all that you see, you will probably have them controlled. If you miss any, next spring after they start feeding they are very easily controlled by spraying with arsenate of lead.

QUESTION: A Missouri concern recommends that we plant our roses by putting a pound of bone meal in the bottom of the hole, a little soil, some manure, and then the rose. Do you agree with this?

ANSWER: I am afraid I do not. It is much better to mix your fertilizer with an analysis of 4-12-4 spaded into the soil before planting or mixed with the soil is the most effective form that you can use. May I suggest you ask your county agricultural agent for a copy of our bulletin on garden roses.

QUESTION: I am in the habit of saving the burned bones from the incinerator and after pulverizing them place them on the various plants. Do these burned bones contain sufficient plant food to be worth saving?

ANSWER: Unburned bone contains about 20 percent phosphorus. However, I do not feel it is worth the effort to save bones to pulverize for fertilizer since you can buy suitable phosphorus so cheaply. This is relatively readily available to the plants whereas your phosphorus in the bone will not be available for some time.

QUESTION: I want to grow some hardy orchids from seed. Would you recommend this?

ANSWER: Although you will trator of the Munich bomb outrage.

Arrested at Venloo

These two employees of the much-vaunted British intelligence unit were taken into custody at Venloo, on the Dutch-German border, the morning after a time-bomb went off in the Buergerbraukeller in Munich, missing by eleven minutes the assassination of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler and leading members of his regime.

They fell into the net of the Gestapo, it was alleged, because they believed the stories of German secret service agents who posed as "anti-German revolutionaries."

So completely were the Britons deluded, an official announcement said, that they gave the German agents a specially-built radio receiving set which from then until the present day has enabled the Nazi government "to maintain contact with the British government."

"Spies" Are Traced

The British citizens were described only as "Mr. Best and Captain Stevens." The announcement of Gestapo chieftain Heinrich Himmler regarding their alleged participation in the conspiracy charged that they had long maintained headquarters at The Hague.

This British intelligence service long had attempted to organize plots and instigate violence in Germany," Himmler's announcement said.

Their agents have been taking up contacts with revolutionary organizations which they assumed existed.

"Owing to reports by German emigrates which were as criminal as they were stupid, the British government and the intelligence service were of the opinion that there existed an opposition in the (German) state, party and army whose goal was a revolution in the Reich.

"Under these circumstances, officials of the security service of the S. S. (storm troop guards) were commissioned to take up connections with this British terror and revolution center in The Hague.

"Believing that they were actually negotiating with rebellious German officers, representatives of the British intelligence service revealed their intentions and plans to German officials."

On November 9, the statement continued, Best and Stevens attempted to cross the border into Germany at Venloo.

"They were overcome in this act by German officers and handed to the state police as prisoners," the announcement said.

To Purge Foes

BERLIN, Nov. 22.—A systematic campaign to wipe out every last vestige of internal opposition within the Reich was predicted by well-informed Berlin quarters today in the wake of the confession by Georg Elser, 36-year old German citizen that he set the time bomb which nearly claimed the life of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler in Munich on November 8.

Nazi Germany virtually declared war upon the anti-Nazi "black front" governed from abroad by Otto Strasser officially described as a "renegade," who was named along with "British agents" as spiritual author of the assassination attempt.

"Further sensations" were promised by Nazi spokesmen who identified Elser—still a mysterious and enigmatic prisoner—as "merely a tool" in the conspiracy aimed at the assassination of Hitler and other leading members of the Nazi regime.

Elser's part in the attempted killing was merely that of a technical assistant, it was said. Considerable stress was laid upon the arrest of two men described as British agents—a "Mr. Best and a Captain Stevens."

Whitehall circles expressed hope the move will aid materially in cutting off the Reich from foreign exchange sources, disorganize German industry and upset Germany's war calculations.

It was clear that the decision to seize German exports was in direct retaliation for the action of Germany, according to British claims, in sowing mines off the British coast. During the last five days 17 ships have gone to the bottom around the British Isles, chiefly as a result of striking mines. If the Flanora sinks, it will be the 18th to go down in the current wave of maritime destruction.

Aerial Activity
Aerial activity over Great Britain continued last night with an announcement by the air ministry that "enemy aircraft were observed over the East coast shortly after 7 p. m."

"The raiders," said the statement, "were reported flying at various altitudes. Fighter aircraft were sent up to intercept them and batteries of anti-aircraft guns engaged them.

"The raiders passed and the all-clear signal was given shortly before 8:30 p. m. No bombs were dropped."

During the raid, searchlights pierced the sky over Yorkshire and machine gun bursts were heard.

Later it was announced that a British ship rescued three German airmen drifting in collapsible boat in the North Sea. The aviators were landed at an East coast port.

BRITISH TO TRY TO RAISE THETIS FOR USE IN WAR

LONDON.—The British submarine Thetis, which sank with the loss of 99 lives in Liverpool Bay, will be added to the Royal Navy strength as soon as she has been brought back to life.

Admiralty and shipyard experts, basing their opinion on the reports of divers who have examined the sunken craft, believe that two months after being recovered, the Thetis will be put into service.

Despite her long submersion there has been little corrosion of her engines and vital machinery. Chief damage was caused to electrical installations and delicate navigating instruments. These, however, can be replaced at little cost.

Salvage vessels were still awaiting calm weather before they can pump sufficient compressed air into the hull of the Thetis to refloat her.

When the submarine sails from the fitting out berth, she will carry a new name, however.

the city managed to add .15 of a mill more for school operating expenses. The township granted the school .05 of a mill from its road fund. Circleville granted .10 of a mill from its bond levy. The board of education still contended the additional .45 of a mill was needed.

Members of the budget commission pointed out the school levy has been increased .65 of a mill over last year providing an additional $5,200 but they know of no way to solve the problem.

Forrest Short, county auditor and a member of the budget commission, said the rate could not be changed and additional funds could not be granted the board of education unless the city or township agreed to take cuts.

DEGREES OR EDUCATION?

PRESIDENT BOB HUTCHINS of the University of Chicago has another wonderful idea for higher education. Observing that most students seem to have no special purpose in college except, somehow or other, to get their degrees, he proposes to make it easy for them.

Thus he would give the A. B. boys and girls a degree at the end of their sophomore year, whether they had earned it or not, and shove 'em out, and concentrate on the others who really want to learn something regardless of letters to tack onto their names.

He seems to have something there. It may be that education itself is really more important than college degrees, although an educational detective snooping around an average campus might not think so.

MAPS FOR A QUEER WAR

NEWSPAPER readers who remember the war maps published in 1914-18 find the current output quite different. There is good reason. The war itself is unlike the last war and unlike the kind of war everyone expected.

So far there are no great battles anywhere along the western front, and consequently maps do not need to show advances or retreats or areas captured. There are maps, however, which show the boundaries of 1914, 1921, 1938 and 1939. A recent newspaper map, described as a "blackboard map of Europe showing the war in the tenth week," presents Europe's different countries in outline only. It is covered with balloons bearing explanatory legends about the spots to which arrows point.

A few examples explain the method. "Holland and Belgium Make Peace Plea," reads the one over those countries. Another, near Munich, says, "Attempt to Kill Hitler." Hovering over Rome is this: "Italian Press Tells Russia to Keep Out of Balkans." Up near Bergen one finds "U. S. Crew to Sail Flint Home."

He read it aloud in a quiet voice, but when he came to the line about Butler's philosophy, there was an unmistakable emphasis laid upon one word, which load ed it with meaning.

"... his complete frankness," Early read, "in the expression of his philosophy... commanded my respect." Early emphasized the word "his", an emphasis which was doubtless not his own but the President's. It left no doubt that the President's "respect" applied only to Butler's frankness, not to Butler's philosophy.

PRESIDENT ORDERS CUT TO BONE

WASHINGTON—There is much wailing and gnashing of teeth these days among New Dealers. The President, greatest spender of them all, has sent blunt orders down the line that all estimates for the new budget must be pared to the bone.

The boys just don't know what to make of it. They expected economy demands from Congress, but for Roosevelt to wield the ax has cut them to the quick.

And they know he isn't kidding because of what he already has done to WPA. He has quietly ordered its new appropriation slashed to $1,000,000,000—a cut of $500,000,000 under the current budget. If anywhere near this percentage of economizing is imposed on other major appropriations, then the budget he will submit to Congress in January will amaze his critics.

It also will be in line with the advice given him by the Democratic congressional leaders.

They have urged him to cut everything but national defense sharply. If Congress wants to boost his figures, that will be its responsibility. But the Administration, they insist, should be on record for a balanced budget in order to meet Republican campaign attacks.

Judging from the cries of anguish among his New Deal intimates, the President is definitely acting on this counsel.

SUPREME COURT BATTLE

There was a touch of the old Supreme Court fight in what Roosevelt said about the late Justice Butler, but you had to hear the words read aloud to get it.

Newsmen at Steve Early's press conference asked if the President had any comment to make on the death of the Supreme Court Justice. Early had anticipated that, and was ready with a statement from the President.

He read it aloud in a quiet voice, but when he came to the line about Butler's philosophy, there was an unmistakable emphasis laid upon one word, which load ed it with meaning.

"... his complete frankness," Early read, "in the expression of his philosophy... commanded my respect." AMERICAN HORSE SENSE

Here are two worth-while quotes by two worth-while Americans:

Norman Davis, ex-envoy for disarmament and now head of the Red Cross: "Waging peace is much more difficult than waging war."

Lloyd Stark, Governor of Missouri: "We need our opponents to keep us at our best. In the two-party system lies our best guarantee that this shall never be a totalitarian state."

WORLD AT A GLANCE . . .

"IF YOU HAVE concluded in your masculine mind," a lady read or of my column writes to me from Berkeley, Cal., "that women stick together, that they favor their sex 'going places' in politics regardless of how the woman may conduct herself in office, you surely don't know women."

FEMINIST SENTIMENT

So I concluded that, due to feminist sentiment, she's as irremovable as the Washington monument so long as the New Deal prevails.

I still surmise that I'm right so far as concerns professional feminists.

I likewise surmise that such is the administration's diagnosis—that it wouldn't dare to disturb her politically lest a feminist political revolt ensue.

But perhaps I was mistaken in relying so utterly upon the verdict of prominent feminists without consulting the rank-and-file of women. I admit I don't know 'em all. I thought the prominent ones were a characteristic cross section.

My Berkeley correspondent assures me that my guess is "the most astonishing one" that she "ever read."

HERE'S WHY

"And I'll tell you why," she adds.

"About six years ago," she relates, "I was in a group of women, some Republicans and some Democrats, and the only thing that every woman in that room agreed on was that Miss Perkins was a woman who were vehemently pro-Roosevelt. I've talked with a goodly bunch of them. They were nearly unanimously pro-'Modom.' Maybe they didn't all like her personality but they evidently felt that, as our first woman cabinet member, she was entitled to their unqualified support in office."

WHAT UNANIMITY

"Living," continues my correspondent, "in a university city and having been connected with the university, I have many, many friends in the university group. I have asked them all, men and women, professors and students, and have yet to find one who has any use for her."

I have asked store clerks, beauty parlor operators, stenographers, business women in executive positions, writers, housewives, conservatives, liberals, pro-Roosevelts and anti-Roosevelts. I have obtained opinions from New York, Illinois, Kentucky, Ohio, Tennessee and Florida. I have just about polled all my friends, acquaintances, relatives and strangers who will discuss the subject (and they all will), and I have never found anyone, male or female, who isn't antagonistic to Miss Perkins."

"The greater number are violently antagonistic (and this is truer of women than of men) that they lapse almost into apoplexy."

A critic like this should be identified.

It's Estelle MacMahon of Berkeley. There's no request for anonymity.

Nevertheless, my impression was that she's most scoldily entrenched in her cabinet post while the Roosevelt New Deal lasts.

One reason I had for believing so is that outstanding feminists I've met swear by her, by an overwhelming majority. A number of

The tenth week of the war may have been strangely inactive in the military zone, but it was lively enough in the controlled press of the totalitarian countries, in the capitals of neutral nations, and everywhere on the propaganda front.

"Greece, change thy lords—thy land is still the same!" Lord Byron was singing a century ago, and he's needed now to sing it to several other countries we might mention.

What I did was to write a column summing up the respective records, to date, of our various cabinet members, and endeavoring, as well as I was able, to assess their assorted popularities.

In due course I got down to Labor Secretary Frances Perkins.

Now I know as well as anybody that plenty of people don't overly like "Modom" Perkins. She's a bit too radical in her views for some. She also has a rather undiplomatic personality. Her tongue is sharp and she isn't at all hesitant to say whatever she thinks.

LAFF-A-DAY

"I tell you someone is tickling me!"

DIET AND HEALTH

Put Lactic Acid in Baby's Milk?

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
Should lactic acid be added to a milk formula for infants?

Authorities are less inclined to insist upon this nowadays than formerly. Some, however, still believe that it is a great advantage to add some lactic acid to the milk of bottle-fed babies who have been underfed and cannot take the amount of strength of cow's milk mixture they should be getting if their weight were normal. Lactic acid undoubtedly is helpful in certain cases of intestinal indigestion.

In the preparation of lactic acid mixture, after the standard formula has been made, 60 drops of lactic acid, which can be bought at a drug store, are added to each pint of milk.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

After the milk is boiled and has been allowed to cool, the acid is added drop by drop, with constant stirring to prevent lumps forming in the milk.

Treating Psoriasis

What is the modern treatment of psoriasis?

Psoriasis is a mysterious disease of the skin. It is likely to come on in the winter time. It is a scaly, patchy eruption, which has a predilection for the scalp, ears and the surfaces of the arms and legs. Recurrences are the rule and few dermatologists would be willing to say there is any cure for it. Attention to the general health and the diet is important.

Foods which notably irritate the skin, such as shell foods, strawberries, pickles and alcohol, should not be used.

Local treatment with various ointments or lights is helpful. A new one comes out nearly every year.

What to do for Unerupted Teeth

What should be done for an unerupted tooth?

Wisdom teeth are usually those which do not erupt. They are often found to be lying in the jaw crooked or sideways. When thus wrongly directed, they impinge on their neighbors and inflammation ensues. When this occurs, the gum at first becomes inflamed and the chewing muscles take part in the reaction and the jaw is partly locked.

The infection may extend down the neck or local abscesses may form. When this occurs, of course, the unerupted tooth must be removed after inflammation has subsided in order to prevent recurrence.

Sometimes an unerupted tooth, even when not inflamed, causes peculiar neuralgic-like pains. In many cases, however, an unerupted tooth is silent and is only discovered by a routine examination with the x-ray. The best rule is to let sleeping, unerupted teeth lie.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

K. L.: At different times a small white spot or blotch will appear in or under one or more of my fingernails. As children we used to say that this signified that you had told a lie. As a grown-up I would like to know what it signifies, if it has a medical significance at all.

Answer: It has no significance. The usual explanation is that these spots are made by a tiny air bubble which gets in the nail, just as they say gray hair differs from natural hair because the hair shaft is filled with air bubbles.

H. M. W.: Are variety and change of scene conducive to long life? Our cemetery superintendent found that the average length of life of those buried in 1904 was about 53 years; in 1937 about 63 years. That period corresponds to the growth in popularity of the auto and the movie. May they be partially responsible for the increase in length of life?"

Answer: Your cemetery superintendent was working from insufficient data. He forgot to count the infants and children who died. In those who have reached the age of 40, duration of life has increased only about six months in the last half-century. The movies may be conducive to longevity, but certainly not the auto.

The thirteenth anniversary meeting of Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Watts of Ohio State University, who made his discussion of "Ceramics and Ohio Clay" deeply interesting to the 50 members and visitors present. Mrs. Charles Gerhardt, chairman of national defense, read an interesting article from the National Defense News written by Lt. Bernard L. Austin of the United States Navy. The music for the evening arranged by Mrs. James Moffitt included a group of three songs by Miss Eleanor Snyder, who sang "My Johann," a Norwegian Dance by Grieg, "Over the Land Lies April," by Ernest Charles and "Kerry Dance," by Malloy. Miss Abbe Mills Clarke played her piano accompaniments.

Dr. Watts said that as the subject was so large that not all information about it could be gained in four years in the university, his talk would of necessity be sketchy. He said that Ceramics was an old term for an old industry, usually being considered as referring to clay. The Sanscrit root recorded that it meant any material not metallic, including refractories, limes and abrasives.

The term first had its distinct definition in Greek, then German, French, English and American, as civilization advanced through the ages. The birth of Ceramics was about 5,000 B. C. The Saracens of Babylonia, who lived between the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers, are the first who developed it as a definite industry. It then moved to Egypt where, about 2,500 B. C., the first very thin glassy coating was applied to clay, which looked not unlike the glaze of today.

Dr. Watts' talk included items on the lustre ware of the early Persians, notes on the glazes of 800 B. C. which did not peal off and were great color protection, told of the movement of the work to Greece in early times, and the early work to make glazing durable.

From Greece it moved to Italy where Basaltic pottery was made about 500 A. D. This Roman pottery created an interest in France, spreading from there to other European countries and England. He mentioned the beautiful Majolica Ware as being made in Spain, gaining its name from an island off the eastern coast. He said frequently wares were named from places where they were manufactured. He told the romantic story of the growth of pottery from the very necessary articles to the artistic pieces of real value. He mentioned the value of Wedgewood was in the name, which maintains its own prestige.

Dr. Watts said that by 1750 all forms of pottery, brick, tile, earthenware, majolica and stoneware were known, and we at this time know of no others. The technique in manufacture has improved but there are no new wares.

The industry in America according to Dr. Watts began with the making of bricks in Jamestown about 1612. A few years later they made roofing tile, finding that fire proof materials for building homes were necessary to protect the settlers from the Indians. In brief, he mentioned that earthenware was made in 1685 in New Jersey; stoneware in New York in 1735; terra cotta in 1765, and fire brick in 1812.

Interesting indeed was the story of growth of the industry in Ohio where much clay and shale is found underlying the coal beds. The shale is especially fine grained and used in the better pottery, much of which is made at Zanesville and East Liverpool. All Ohio clay is red. The Ceramic industry began with the history of the state and is now one of its largest industries. The state is the largest producer of roof tile. East Liver-

The thirteenth anniversary meeting of Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Watts of Ohio State University, who made his discussion of "Ceramics and Ohio Clay" deeply interesting to the 50 members and visitors present. Mrs. Charles Gerhardt, chairman of national defense, read an interesting article from the National Defense News written by Lt. Bernard L. Austin of the United States Navy. "The Reading Habit and Children's Literature". In introduction, Mr. Pfoutz stated that the child receives knowledge through three channels, verbal instruction, personal experiences and observation, and reading. Thus it follows that the reading habit must be acquired at an early age. By the age of nine, a child should be taught to discriminate in his choice of what he reads.

It is important, Mr. Pfoutz continued, to link up reading with every day life. Children are really good judges of their own reading and should be allowed to make their own choices. Stereotyped book lists do not help; in most cases the books on such lists will be disliked by children.

What is Children's Literature? Children's literature consists of things written especially for children. Early literature for children was weighed down with moral teaching, the old idea of reward for goodness and punishment for wrongdoing. Today children's books are written for the purpose of entertainment and instruction.

Many of them deal with aspects of nature and science. There is a strong trend toward the realistic treatment of subjects. Children require human interest and imaginative appeal. In fact the criteria for good reading in the child's world are action, human interest and imaginative appeal. He stated that the child reads through curiosity, desire for wish fulfillment, the tendency to imitate. He enjoys reading and is curious about forces of nature, mechanical forces, origin of life, theology and Bible principles, and death and heaven.

Mr. Pfoutz compared and contrasted his criteria for desirable reading.

In connection with his talk he showed many books from the shelves of the library. Mrs. Ned Groom had an interesting book display from a Columbus store.

It's An Old American Custom

A little more than three hundred years ago a small group of men . . . hardy, earnest, God-fearing . . . finished their harvest and prepared themselves for Winter. It was their first harvest in the New World, and gratitude was in their hearts.

We of today would see little in their lot to occasion gratitude. Strangers in a strange land . . . with no luxuries and few comforts, menaced by hostile Indians and food shortage . . . those Pilgrim Fathers set aside a day of Thanksgiving for the year's blessings. Thus they established a custom that is now older than our Republic . . . our oldest native holiday.

Momentous changes have come into American life. Growth has built a country which, more than any other in the world, gives its inhabitants soundly sufficient reasons for considering themselves blessed . . . for returning sincere Thanksgiving.

In the vast and many-sided development that produced modern American life, advertising played its part. It has been a vital ally of industrial growth and production; it has fostered honest dealing, helped to bring many comforts and luxuries with the reach of all; it has been . . . and is a staunch protector of the buying public.

OBITUARY

We are reminded at this time of the words of our Lord "Watch ye therefore for ye know not when the master of this house cometh, at even or at midnight, or at the cock crowing or at morning."

The subject of this sketch was Leo Joseph Vandygriff, was born August 23rd, 1869, in Vinton County, Ohio, and departed this life November 16th, 1939, at the age of 70 years, 2 months, 21 days.

He suddenly fell down as a shock to all due to an accident from being struck by a car.

She was united in marriage to Mr. Edwin Vandygriff, February 13, 1891, and to this union 10 children were born, six having preceded her in death.

Early in life she became a member of the Baptist Church and remained a member until her death.

The larger part of her life was spent in Pickaway County, Ohio. She leaves to mourn their loss her husband, four children, namely Benjamin, Mrs. Billie, Mrs. Nellie, and Harold at home all of Circleville, Ohio, eleven grandchildren, two great-grandchildren, many other relatives and friends.

There's a home in the skies,
Where the weary will rest,
A glorious home in the "Land of the Blest".

The dear ones will be wiped
From the sorrowful heart,
And the broken in heart will Forget to sigh.

There is a land where beauty
cannot fade,
Nor sorrow dim the eye;
Where true love shall not droop, nor be dismayed,

And none shall ever die.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all for kind words spoken, to those who gave flowers, the singers, minister and funeral director Mr. Rinehart.

Mr. Edwin Vandygriff and family.

Double Nod Given Ohio State On Mythical Big Ten All Star Eleven

CHICAGO, Nov. 22—This is the season of the year when, with the gridiron campaign sliding swiftly into history, football critics take to their pencils and paper and go about the hopeless task of picking the outstanding players of the last two months. So today International News Service presents its first and second all-Big Ten teams.

Nobody, of course expects less than ten thousand objections to any all-star teams, so the hammer may as well begin to fall at once. At any rate, here are the all-Big Ten selections:

SPECIAL UNION SERVICE TO BE FEATURE OF THANKSGIVING CELEBRATION

OFFERINGS WILL BE DONATED TO HOME, HOSPITAL

The Rev. Charles F. Bowman
To Give Morning Sermon
At U. B. Church

HUNDREDS TO PARTICIPATE

Lutherans Also Arrange Special Service For Wednesday Evening

Hundreds of Circleville folk will attend special church services Wednesday night and Thursday morning in observance of Thanksgiving.

Congregations of a majority of the churches, in keeping with a custom of many years, will participate in the union service at 10 a.m. Thursday in the United Brethren Church.

"The Lord Hath Done Great Things for Us; Whereof We Are Glad" will be the sermon theme of the Rev. Charles F. Bowman, pastor of First Methodist Church, who will deliver the sermon Thursday morning.

The offering taken at the service will be given to the Home and Hospital.

The program includes an organ prelude, introit, invocation by the Rev. W. D. Ramsey, pastor of Calvary Evangelical Church; Gloria Patri followed by a hymn; responsive reading by the Rev. L. C. Sherburne, pastor of St. Philip's Episcopal Church; prayer by the Rev. Robert T. Kelsey, pastor of First Presbyterian Church; anthem, offertory, doxology and sermon; a hymn, and the benediction by the Rev. Albert N. Grueser, pastor of First United Brethren Church.

Thanksgiving services will be held Wednesday at 7:15 p.m. in Trinity Lutheran Church. In addition to the Thanksgiving sermon there will be an appropriate anthem by the Senior Choir. Carl C. Leist, choir director, will sing a solo.

GAS WARFARE FROM AIRPLANES SEEN AS LIKELY

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 22—Gas warfare from airplanes is "highly practicable" in the opinion of Maj. Gen. Walter C. Baker, chief of the chemical warfare service of the United States war department, and the perfection of a defense against it is today a problem of "extraordinary difficulty."

Airplanes can launch gas attacks by means of bombs dropped from the planes or by spray from tanks carried on planes, Maj. Gen. Baker told the Western New York section of the American Chemical Society. Nations with vast chemical resources will hesitate to use gas warfare against other nations similarly endowed, he said, but to be unprepared, he warned, is to invite such attacks.

"To be unprepared," Maj. Gen. Baker declared, "is to be vulnerable and hence to invite chemical attack and without adequate protective equipment and training in its use, chemical warfare might well be decisive."

NEW CITY MANAGER IS NAMED AT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON C. H., Nov. 22.—Edwin Ducey, 32, will succeed G. H. Sollars as city manager of Washington C. H. on January 1.

Ducey, a native of Washington C. H., has been chief deputy in the Fayette county auditor's office. The salary of the city manager is $2,500 a year.

S. A. Murray was named chairman of council and police judge. Norman L. McLean was named solicitor succeeding W. S. Paxson. Robert Hartman succeeds himself as treasurer. All start their terms on January 1.

The appointments were made by the new council-elect.

Military Motif Features Toys For Christmas

SMALL Walter Kelly of New York seems to be having the time of his life, above, as he plays with toy guns, warplanes and other implements of the soldier at a preview of Christmas toys. It is estimated that some $235,000,000 worth of toys have been manufactured for the Christmas trade.

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

Ashburn head of the Inland Waterways Corporation was no sudden convulsion. It was the climax of a long behind-the-scenes row between the retired army officer and Commerce Department officials.

First blow in the feud was struck by Ashburn, who hotly resented having his agency put under the Department in last summer's government reorganization. He had been his own boss for years and didn't like being subordinated.

At the first meeting of his board after the transfer, Ashburn took the offensive by reading a legal brief challenging the legality of the shift. To Assistant Commerce Secretary J. Monroe Johnson, two-fisted South Carolinian who was getting his first close-up of the Inland Waterways Corporation, this seemed a deliberate affront and he told Ashburn so in so many words.

Thereafter, Johnson lost no time digging into the affairs of the Corporation and quickly uncovered three interesting items (1) that in addition to his $10,000 a year salary, Ashburn was getting $5,000 for personal expenses; (2) he had a government yacht that cost $20,000 a year to operate; (3) that IWC barge and river hands were up in arms over low pay and poor food.

On orders of Secretary Hopkins, Johnson put the ax to the expense fund and the yacht. Ashburn was furious.

WHITE HOUSE APPEAL
He renewed his attacks on the legality of the transfer, going over Hopkins' and Johnson's heads directly to the White House. But this move was thrown for a loss by an opinion from Attorney General Murphy holding that the President did have the power to establish.

Meanwhile, Johnson had started an audit of the IWC's books and a survey of labor conditions by Father Haas, widely respected labor authority. After this the fight raged hotter than ever. Finally Johnson called in Ashburn and notified him he was through.

"You can remain until the audit is completed," Johnson said, "and then date your resignation to take effect at the end of your annual leave."

Ashburn made no reply. Rushing back to his office, he wrote out his resignation and gave it to Johnson and the press.

Although Ashburn is out, the controversy is far from over. The Justice Department has been asked to start proceedings to recover the $5,000 Ashburn drew yearly for personal expenses.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

After phenagling to get the Philippines out from under Secretary Ikes and the Interior Department, High Commissioner Sayre has been deluging the Interior Department with lengthy cables enumerating things he wants done. . . . Cordell Hull and Dominican Dictator Trujillo got along together very well privately, though outer members of Mr. Hull's State Department don't love the Dominican. . . . Language in a Census Bureau press release: "The stork flies through Census windows and makes 6,000 new entries daily, and the old gentleman who carries a scythe (who pals around with taxes) comes every day to erase about 4,000."

NEW VIRGINIA JUDGE

The President isn't going to announce it immediately, but he plans to fill the vacancy on the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals.

Mason Dobie of Charlottesville, Va.

Judge Dobie is the U. S. District Judge who was appointed by Roosevelt after the long-drawn-out fight over the confirmation of Judge Roberts. The President met Dobie, then Dean of the University of Virginia Law School, at the home of his son Franklin, and appointed him to the bench shortly thereafter.

The appointment met with approval from Senators Glass and Byrd, even though they had not been consulted.

Few knew of the impending Dobie promotion, but among those who knew it some days ago was the President's secretary, General "Pa" Watson. And the General put in some hard licks on behalf of his friend Kenon Whittle of Martinsburg to take Dobie's place as U. S. District Judge. Watson and Whittle had known each other as youngsters.

However, the Justice Department did a little checking on Whittle and found that his record was anything but liberal. A minus sign has been marked after his name, and he will not be appointed.

First is Burke's fear that Governor Roy Cochran has the edge on him in a fight for the Democratic nomination. Cochran stands well with all factions in the party, while Burke has antagonized a considerable element by his anti-New Deal sharpshooting. As an independent, Burke wouldn't have to face a bitter primary fight and would be sure to be on the final ballot.

Second, Nebraska voters are noted for their disregard of party labels, and Burke figures he stands a better chance to draw Republians support if he runs as an independent. Also, in that role he would be free of any embarrassing complications in the presidential struggle.

GAS WARFARE FROM AIRPLANES SEEN AS LIKELY

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 22—Gas warfare from airplanes is "highly practicable" in the opinion of Maj. Gen. Walter C. Baker, chief of the chemical warfare service of the United States War department, and the perfection of a defense against it is today a problem of "extraordinary difficulty."

Airplanes can launch gas attacks by means of bombs dropped from the planes or by spray from tanks carried on planes, Maj. Gen. Baker told the Western New York section of the American Chemical Society. Nations with vast chemical resources will hesitate to use gas warfare against other nations similarly endowed, he said, but to be unprepared, he warned, is to invite such attacks.

"To be unprepared," Maj. Gen. Baker declared, "is to be vulnerable and hence to invite chemical attack and without adequate protective equipment and training in its use, chemical warfare might well be decisive."

Ashburn head of the Inland Waterways Corporation was no sudden convulsion. It was the climax of a long behind-the-scenes row between the retired army officer and Commerce Department officials.

First blow in the feud was struck by Ashburn, who hotly resented having his agency put under the Department in last summer's government reorganization. He had been his own boss for years and didn't like being subordinated.

At the first meeting of his board after the transfer, Ashburn took the offensive by reading a legal brief challenging the legality of the shift. To Assistant Commerce Secretary J. Monroe Johnson, two-fisted South Carolinian who was getting his first close-up of the Inland Waterways Corporation, this seemed a deliberate affront and he told Ashburn so in so many words.

Thereafter, Johnson lost no time digging into the affairs of the Corporation and quickly uncovered three interesting items (1) that in addition to his $10,000 a year salary, Ashburn was getting $5,000 for personal expenses; (2) he had a government yacht that cost $20,000 a year to operate; (3) that IWC barge and river hands were up in arms over low pay and poor food.

On orders of Secretary Hopkins, Johnson put the ax to the expense fund and the yacht. Ashburn was furious.

WHITE HOUSE APPEAL He renewed his attacks on the legality of the transfer, going over Hopkins' and Johnson's heads directly to the White House. But this move was thrown for a loss by an opinion from Attorney General Murphy holding that the President did have the power to make the shift.

Meanwhile, Johnson had started an audit of the IWC's books and a survey of labor conditions by Father Haas, widely respected labor authority. After this the fight raged hotter than ever. Finally Johnson called in Ashburn and notified him he was through.

The first broadcast of the complete score of Cole Porter's new musical, "Du Barry Was A Lady", will be featured by Andre Kostelanetz and his soloists on "Tune-Up Time", Monday evening, November 27, as the highlight of an all-Cole Porter program.

This airing of the new "Du Barry" tunes will be in the nature of a preview, since the show will not open on Broadway until after the first of December.

Tony Martin, Kay Thompson and the entire cast of "Tune-Up Time" will be heard in the new songs which are titled "Katie In Haiti", "Do I Love You?", and "It Was Written In The Stars".

FOUR INDICTED AS NEGLIGENT IN TYPHOID WAR

KANKAKEE, Ill., Nov. 22—Four persons, including State Director of Public Welfare A. L. Bowen, were under indictment today by the Kankakee County grand jury in connection with a recent typhoid epidemic at Manteno State Hospital which claimed 53 lives.

In addition to Bowen, those indicted were Dr. Ralph T. Hinton, suspended managing director of the hospital, Mrs. Lillian Williams, hospital dietitian, and Dr. D. L. Steinberg, assistant to Dr. Hinton. The four were negligent in not having taken steps to halt the epidemic. In addition, the indictments charged that Bowen and Dr. Hinton had ignored repeated warnings from the state department of health that Manteno's water supply from wells on the grounds was unsafe.

Bowen, first to issue a statement, declared the charges were "absurd." He said he would ask for a hearing at the earliest possible date, adding he was confident the charges would "dissolve into thin air when all the facts come out in a public trial before an unbiased and unprejudiced jury."

The director asserted he would neither resign nor take leave of his job unless asked to do so by Gov. Henry Horner, with whom he was to confer today.

SCHOOL NEWS

The Ashville High School boys' basketball team opened their season by thoroughly trouncing their near rivals of Scioto by a score of 48 to 16.

Each team had two regulars back from last year's team, but Ashville showed a tight defense, which kept the visitors away from the basket and hurried all shots to the extent that most of them were wild. Scioto's first field goal was made in the closing minutes of the third period.

The Ashville girls also had an easy time running up a score of 35 to Scioto's 14 which was just the reverse of one year ago. The question now is whether Ashville girls have improved so much, or some both during the year. Future games will no doubt tell.

One new and pleasing feature of last Friday's contest was the program put on by the Ashville School Band. It certainly peped up the whole proceeding very much.

Wednesday evening of this week the Ashville boys will play Liberty Union two games here. The Fairfield County boys are fast and tall, and can easily put a six-foot team on the floor if they wish to do so.

They were the only team to defeat Ashville during the regular season last year.

Ashville men teachers who attended the Schoolmasters' Nameless Club meeting Tuesday evening at Groveport were Fullen, Smith, Irwin, Brobst, Murphy, Martin and Higley. All took care of their share of turkey and trimmings according to reports.

The Ashville school has raised $17.36 for the American Red Cross this year. The Junior class led all others with a $2.00 contribution the next highest being the Sixth Grade with $1.21. Mr. Murphy and Mr. Fullen are the home room teachers for these respective classes.
